

Your court surface
is not Laykold?
And it's not
made by an
ISO-certified company?

That's called a double fault.

Laykold®. Made by APT®, an ISO 9001-certified manufacturer.

Building a new court? Resurfacing an existing one? Remember the name Laykold® – of the DOZENS of court surfacing companies out there, each one claiming to be “the best” and offer “the highest quality,” not all are ISO 9001 certified. Laykold is made by APT, a company that passes the International Organization for Standardization criteria for developing, implementing, improving, preparing, controlling and maintaining quality. ISO standards are tough – not everybody bothers. We do. That’s why Laykold is the official choice for quality courts all over the world – from the Sony Ericsson Open in Key Biscayne to the 2006 Davis Cup site at La Jolla Beach & Tennis Club. Our multi-layered surfaces can be tailored to slow, medium or fast pace and customized for maximum comfort. All in a variety of fade- and glare-resistant colors. Bottom line? Nobody covers the court like Laykold.™
